Panther Expedited Services, Inc. Hires Michael Clark as Executive Vice President of Operations

Seville, OH – Panther Expedited Services, Inc., the largest independent provider of premium logistics services in North America, recently announced it hired Michael (Mike) Clark as Executive Vice President of Operations. In this new position, Clark will be responsible for managing the strategic development and execution of Panther's premium transportation offerings including ground and air expedite, air charter, and Elite Services.

"Panther's focus on customer service and operational excellence has always allowed the Company to lead the premium transportation industry. The addition of Michael Clark will help enable us to maintain that position," said Andrew Clarke, President and Chief Executive Officer. "Michael's proven ability to develop and implement best practices will ensure that our customers continue to receive the highest service levels."

Prior to joining Panther, Mr. Clark held senior supply chain management positions at a number of industry-leading transportation companies. Most recently he spent 6 years at Exel, a global third-party logistics company, where he served as VP of Transportation of the America's. Previous appointments include key operational and strategy roles both in the United States and Europe at FedEx Supply Chain Services, Shiplogix, and Roberts Express/FedEx Custom Critical. Mr. Clark holds a Bachelor of Arts from Hiram College.

"Panther is uniquely positioned to offer a full suite of premium transportation solutions that enable us to exceed the customers' service and cost requirements for each and every shipment. As a customer I always valued Panther's commitment to service, and now as part of the team, I look forward to continuing the customer-centric approach that made Panther an industry leader", says Clark.
